READY FOR TO-DAY'S RACES

Great Lantern Parade Given by the Wheelmen Last Evening.

Windle Again Breaks the World's Record for a Quarter of a Mile-Struggle for the Championship.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night Ohio street, between Pennsylvania and Alabama, presented the appearance of a sea of Chinese lanterns on wheels. The scene was novel and beautiful and attracted a large crowd of people. For a quarter of an hour before the wheelmen formed in line for the great lantern parade the streets were so crowded with bicycles, buggies, men, women and boys that street-car traffic was suspended. All the while Capt. Fisher, who had the parade in charge, assisted by Mesers. Clemens, Simpson, Hall, Spears and Cameron, was kept busy instructing the boys and arranging the line of march. About ten minutes before 8 the procession began, and the route which was mentioned in yesterday's Journal was followed, with but slight variation. When the line reached Washington street there was such a mass of people that a stop or two was occasioned. Many exclamations of surprise and admiration came from the crowd as the wheelmen passed down Pennsylvania street. All sorts of decorations were seen. Upon some of the wheels were a half dozen or more Chinese lanterns, arranged in the form of a cross, with flags and colored bunting in | sucker" the minute they get hold of any profusion. A few presented the appearance of chariots and royal carriages. In every case the riders moved along with apparently as much ease as if they had been | proprietor of the gambling house and the stationed on four wheels instead of two. "GOVERNOR" O'MALLEY'S CAR.

One outfit, which perhaps attracted more attention than any other, was that in the form of a car about six feet in length and nearly ten feet in height. On the sides of the car was the inscription, in large gold letters: "Governor O'Malley's Athletic Club, Roby, Ind. Bill Nye Brown." The riger was Will H. Brown, a young man who evidently knew what would attract the attention of the crowd.

After going down Virginia avenue as far as the fountain, the parade came back, circled around the Statehouse, and went north on Pennsylvania street as far as Fourteenth street and down on Broadway. It was about 9:30 o'clock when the riders wheeled up to the Zigzag clubrooms. The exact number in line was not known, but was estimated all the way from three to five hundred. There were so many outsiders on wheels that it was hard to determine at times who were a part of the

The prizes were awarded shortly after the parade was finished. Two gold medals were offered for the first and second prizes, and four bicycle locks for the third prize. The recipients of the prizes from the first to the fourth in their order were Messrs. Gardner, Pritchard, Ribble and Gardner. Pritchard. Ribble and Freeman. The judges were Robert Hicks. Ollie Carter, Frank Day and George Dickson. No accidents of a serious nature were reported by those in the parade. Many of the riders, however, complained of being molested a great deal by mischievous small boys along the line of march who insisted in grabbing at the Chinese lanterns. In many cases the lanterns were so shaken about that they caught fire and burned. Small boys were not the only ones who insisted on interfering with the march. Many grown young men amused themselves by throwing stones at the riders. When the procession reached the viaduet on Virginia avenue a crowd of negroes interfered to such an extent that the prospects for a time were favorable for a general fight. The intruders were finally driven off without any serious consequences. In the trouble Captain Fisher was hit on the arm by a stone, but the injury was not serious. Besides these interferences, it was very difficult at times for the procession to make its way through th the procession to make its way through the crowd of spectators. On the whole, how-ever, the parade was considered a great

A WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN. The local managers are very enthusiastic over the races which will occur at the fair grounds this afternoon. The interest which the people took in the parade last night indicates a large attendance at the Visiting wheelmen continued to arrive yesterday, fifty or more coming from Cleveland and Chicago. A large number of the visitors and local wheelmen were at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon. In a preliminary race between W. W. Windle and H. C. Tyler, the former made a quarter in 26 4/5, with Tyler a close second. This is better than the world's record by one-fifth of a than the world's record by one-fifth of a second. Windle says that if the wind is not blowing this afternoon be prepared to lower the world's record a mile heat. Zimmerman also ran a mile yesterday afternoon 2:10, just to get warmed up. His record is 2:05 3/5, standing start. Two other wheelmen who are attracting a good deal of attention are Sidney Black, of Cleveland, and Daniel Canary, of New York. These are the trick riders. They will perform some astonishing and interesting feats this afternoon. The race which is looked forward to with the most interest is the one mile open race for the international championship. Thirty one of the world's famous wheelmen are entered in this race, including Zimmerman, Windle, Bliss, Meintjes and others. There is a great deal of favorable comment among the visiting wheelmen regarding the prizes offered in this race. The first prize is a gold cup in different colors, bearing the emblem of the Zigzag Club set with diamonds. The second prize is regarded as an extraordinarily valuable one, being an upright plane, which will be given by D. H. Baldwin & Co. The third prize is a road cart, offered by H. T. Hearsey & and the fourth a roll-top desk, by Hay & Willits. Diamond stude will be given by the Zigzag Club to the man leading at first, second and third quarters. The races will begin promptly at 2 o'clock, as there are twelve in all, and the entire afternoon will be required.

To-night at Tomlinson Hall there will be a social entertainment, at which Mayor Sullivan will be present and make a speech. The lower floor of the hall will be occupied by gentlemen alone, the gallery being reserved for ladies.

WARM ELECTION CONTEST.

Combine Among the Eastern Delta Tau's-Two Officers Elected.

Something of a sensation was created at the meeting of the Delta Tau Delta Karnes, yesterday, concerning the election of permanent officers of the Arch Chapof the fraternity, which will place to-morrow morning. deal of wire pulling has been discovered in spite of the efforts of the wire pullers to keep their work secret. A fierce factional strife is raging, which is expected to terminate in a great deal of bitter feeling at the meeting this morning. Eastern members have formed combination. Laur object is to elect officers from the Eastern States and entirely shut out the West and South. They are so far laboring under the delusion that the Western men are not aware of their plans. This morning when they undertake to come against the men from the West they will find the latter fully prepared for the fight. As to the numbers arrayed on each side it is very difficult to determine. It is believed, however, that | mission of 5 cents. Having no license, his they are pretty evenly divided; enough so. t least, to make an interesting light in the choice of officers. Everything is done with so much secrecy that it will doubtless be a matter of surprise to the Eastern men to learn that their scheme has been divulged. They will be still more surprised when they meet their Western

Yesterday afternoon two of the officers of the permanent organization of the Karnea were chosen. C. C. Dickonson, of Albany, N. Y., State bank examiner, was elected president, and A. E. Duerr, of New York, was chosen secretary.

BLOOD-MONEY OF THE POOR

Ill-Gotten Gains of Gamblers Put Up to Pull Sullivan Through.

Tron Promises $5,000 and the Others Assessed $500 Apiece-Saloons Worked at $100 Each-The City Employes.

Money may be tight, and city bonds may be defaulted, but the financial stringency will not affect the Democratic campaign fund. It is drawn from sources that are not hurt by the prevailing scare. In times like these a man may deny himself necessities, and compel his wife to cut down household expenses, but many of them will drink just as usual, and even more will resort to the gambling hells in the desperate effort to "strike it rich," and get something for nothing. The fact that they usually give something for nothing and come out just that much worse off does not seem to cure them, and with that fatuous insanity which seems to possess the "bern more money they proceed to try it again. Thus while legitimate business suffers the saloon prospers as much or even more in these Democratic times than he does when business is good and everybody is at work, The Sullivan campaign managers, some of whom are in the saloon and gambling

Fitchey, the building inspector, is threatening to kick over the traces, because he insists that he will not pay any sum like $150 or more. The chairman has found it rather hard to collect assessments from the "deacon," but this time the building official will have to pay his proportion and a little more or resign the easy position which he has been allowed to fill. A rumor was started around the City Hall a few days started around the City Hall a few days ago that he was going to resign, and this caused the "deacon" much uneasiness, for he knew that a rumor of this sort was a mere polite form of telling him that he was going to lose his sinecure if he did not put the right amount into the campaign fund when Mr. Taggart calls next week. Fitchey was asked about the rumor that he was

"No," said he with much concern, "I am not going to resign. At least, I know noth; ing of it. Mayor Sullivan and I are good friends. I have so much work sometimes that I have to get some of the city em-ployes to do some writing for me. And there is my horse that has not been in the stable for five minutes during the day. No.

I am not going to resign." There is some curiosity among the employes to know the amount that Bart Parker is to pay. Parker was let off with $25, last campaign, on the ground that he actually worked and did not loaf like the others. It is claimed now that he should pay more because he has had his salary raised and has had his work eased up.

FIGHTING FOR PASSENGERS.

Hackmen Arrested for Violating New Hack Ordinance at Union Station.

Warring backmen occupied the time of police officers at the Union Station yesterday. Lake Morrison, a driver for the Ryan hack line and Alva Walton, a private backman, were arrested yesterday morning for violation of the new hack ordinance. Both gave bail, and in the afternoon Morrison was again arrested. The prisoners claim that they do not stand an equal show with the Frank Bird men, and they propose to not only fight the case, but threaten to bring suit against the Union Railway Company. They state that they have been told by the police judge and Prosecutor Bell that such charges as have been brought against them will not be entertained at all.

Yesterday Morrison says that he was handed a value by a young lady who had just stepped off the train, and as he was placing her in his carriage one of Frank Bird's drivers rushed out, grabbed the satchel and claimed that the passenger rightfully belonged to him. For several minutes the backmen scuffled with the valise, which so badly frightened the passenger that she was in great danger of creating Hauled in an Open Wagon.

Mary Burns, who was arrested last night at 9 o'clock, was hauled in an open patrol wagon along Washington street. A large crowd was assembled on Washington street to witness the bicycle parade. The spectacle of a woman being conveyed along the street before the respectable women and young ladies gathered there caused a great deal of comment, and many denunciations were heard from bystanders.

Patent Medicine Fakir Taken In. J. M. Randolph was arrested last night at 10 o'clock by Captain Fox, city license inspector. Randolph was engaged in running a variety show and selling patent medicines on Virginia avenue at the corner of Cedar street. At first his show was free, but last night he decided to charge an adperformance was abruptly terminated by Captain Fox.
